ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Achyut Godbole is currently the Managing Director of Softexcel Consultancy Services, Mumbai. His professional career spans 32 years, and during this time, he has served in world-renowned software companies in India, UK and USA. He has contributed to the multifold growth of companies such as Patni, Syntel, L&T Infotech, Apar, Disha etc. He did his BTech from IIT Bombay in Chemical Engineering, and henceforth, worked for the welfare of Adivasi tribes for one year.

Godbole has authored best-selling textbooks from Tata McGraw-Hill such as Operating Systems, Data Communications and Networking, and Web Technologies, including international editions and Chinese translations. In addition, he has authored several very-highly rated books on various subjects (like computers, management, economics, etc.) in Marathi and has written several popular columns in Marathi newspapers/magazines on science, literature, medicine, and technology. He has conducted numerous programmes on television pertaining to technology, science, and economics. He has traveled abroad on more than 150 occasions to several countries to promote software business. Godbole also runs a school for autistic children.

He has won several awards, including an award from the Prime Minister of India, 'Udyog Ratna', 'Distinguished Alumnus' from IIT, 'Kumar Gandharva' award at the hands of Pandit Bhimsen Joshi, 'Navaratna' from Sahyadri TV channel, the 'Indradhanu Puraskar', and 'Parnerkar Puraskar' for his contributions to Economics. Besides this, he was ranked 16th in merit in Maharashtra Board Examination. A brilliant student, he was always a topper in class and won many prizes in Mathematics.

He has a website (www.achyutgodbole.com) and can be reached at achyut.godbole@gmail.com.

Atul Kahate is working with Oracle Financial Services Software Limited (earlier i-flex solutions limited) as Head—Technology Practice for over eight years. He has 15 years of experience in Information Technology in India and abroad in various capacities. Previously, he has worked with Syntel, L&T Infotech, American Express and Deutsche Bank. He has a Bachelor of Science degree in Statistics and a Master of Business Administration in Computer Systems.

He has authored 24 highly acclaimed books on Technology, Cricket, and History published by Tata McGraw-Hill, and other reputed publications. Some of these titles include Web Technologies—TCP/ IP to Internet Application Architectures, Cryptography and Network Security, Fundamentals of Computers, Information Technology and Numerical Methods, Introduction to Database Management Systems, Object Oriented Analysis and Design, and Schaum's Series Outlines—Programming in C++, XML and Related Technologies as well as international and Chinese translated editions. Several of his books are being used as course textbooks or sources of reference in a number of universities/colleges/IT companies all over the world. He has authored 'Flu chi kahani— Influenza te Swine flu' (The story of Flu) and has also co-authored a book in Marathi titled IT t ch jayachay (I want to enter into IT). He has authored two books on cricket, and has written over 3000 articles on IT and cricket in leading Marathi newspapers/ magazines/journals in India and abroad.

He has deep interest in history, teaching, science, economics, music, and cricket, besides technology. He has conducted several training programs in a number of educational institutions and IT organizations on a wide range of technologies, including prestigious institutions such as IIT, Symbiosis, I2IT, MET, and Indira Institute of Management. He has done a series of programmes for IBN Lokmat, Star Majha, and SAAM TV channels for explaining complex technology. Kahate has also worked as the official cricket statistician and scorer in a number of tests and limited over international cricket matches. He has contributed to cricket websites, such as CricInfo and Cricket Archive. He is also a member of the Association of Cricket Statisticians, England.

He has won several awards, both in India and abroad, including the Computer Society of India (CSI) award for IT education and literacy, the noted 'Yuvonmesh Puraskar' from Indradhanu-Maharashtra Times, and the 'IT Excellence Award' from Indira Group of Institutes.

He has a website (www.atulkahate.com) and can be reached at akahate@gmail.com.