

4. Point the index finger of your right hand toward the top of the page, extend the second finger of your right hand to be perpendicular to the palm of your right hand and point it into the page. Your thumb now will point to the left, indicating that the force on the particle will be toward the left.