Avant de surfer

The SNCF is France's excellent national train system, and its high-speed trains, or TGV (Trains à Grande Vitesse), are a fast and exciting way to travel in France. In this activity, you will plan a train trip from Paris to another city in France. Look at the detailed map of France on page 295 of your text-book. Choose the city that you would like to visit. Then find the official SNCF Web site on the Internet and explore the schedules from Paris to that city. (Note: If the city you chose is not serviced by the TGV, select another city.)
