

Chapter 2 Economic Resources and Systems

Our forests are an important natural resource.

Gerry Gray. “Big picture needed, please: lost in this year’s budget tangle is the realization that the share for natural resources and the environment just keeps getting smaller.” American Forests. Spring 2005. FindArticles.com. Accessed November 8, 2006.

Companies weight the impact on labor resources as they try to make buying furniture a more positive retail experience.

Mike Duff. “Competition intensifies across channels for RTA.” DSN Retailing Today. April 25, 2005. FindArticles.com. Accessed November 8, 2006.

Private equity firms are a great source of capital resources for big companies.

Andrew Dolbeck. “Power of Private Equity in the M&A Marketplace, The.” Weekly Corporate Growth Report. July 31, 2006. FindArticles.com. Accessed November 8, 2006.

Supply and demand greatly affects the price of one of the most important products people use: oil.

“Gas pain: price of gasoline, heating oil hurts U.S. economy.” Current Events. November 11, 2005. FindArticles.com. Accessed November 8, 2006.