

Chapter 22. Publishing Files on the World Wide Web

Across

1. File transfer protocol.
3. Web page filenames should contain only these letters.
8. Structures used to organize files.
10. Internet service provider.
12. A link which is fully specified.
16. Process of moving a file to a remote computer.
17. The computer to which you publish Web pages.

Down

2. Transfer the file into a folder on a Web server so that other people around the world can access it with a Web browser.
4. A Windows program for uploading files.
5. The Unix command to change permissions.
6. Looking for your own name using a search engine.
7. A provider of free Web publishing space.
8. A Macintosh program for uploading files.
9. With this kind of link, the browser will look for a page in folders related to the current Web page's folder.
11. The person who develops and manages a Web site.
13. Avoid ___ in Web page filenames.
14. Advertise your Web page by adding its URL to your e-mail ____.
15. Address of a Web page.