BEFORE YOU START YOUR EXAM

Take the pre-certification training course.

The course is structured exactly like the certification exam, and it includes a tour of the exam's exact topics—everything from setting up a chart of accounts to paying for expenses. Plus, there are a few sample questions, and tips for using the sample database. That's it. Simple.

For extra preparation, take one of the live webinar training courses. That way, you can ask questions.

The training course won't just prepare you for the exam—it will also give you CPE credits!

Capture screenshots during training.

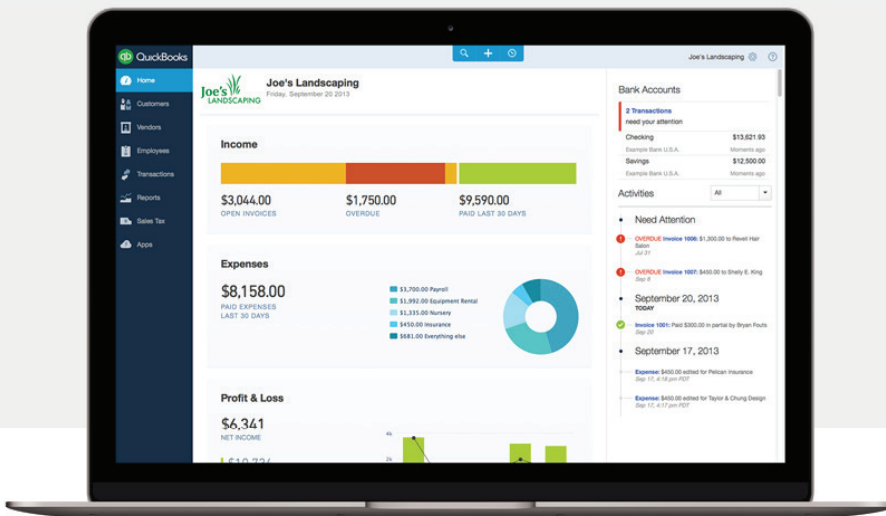

You have the opportunity to access the information you need to answer a question during the exam. Use that to your advantage by snapping photos of sample questions during your training. Keep those photos as a handy reference while you're taking the exam.

You can use your computer's print screen option to snap photos during training. Windows users can use print screen or SnagIt and Mac users can use Grab. It's a lot easier to answer a question about creating and modifying list entries, for example, if you can just flip to that section in the training.

It's also a great idea to capture screenshots of the test questions when you take the test, and use those screenshots to review the training material if you need to take the exam again.

Take notes on the training PDFs.

Really—we mean it! Print out the resource files you received before your training course. As you listen to the instructor, take notes and put big stars next to the information that you know you'll see on the exam. This will be a handy resource for you during your exam.

These tips can help you pass the Advanced Certification exam too, as well as other certification exams for products like QuickBooks Enterprise Solutions.

DURING YOUR EXAM cont'd

Have everything ready.

There's nothing on this exam meant to trick you. It follows the training exactly, so be prepared and don't get tripped up by overthinking. Like we mentioned above, you can use the information you need to answer questions during the exam. So, bring as many resources as you want.

We recommend using:

- Screenshots and notes you captured during training
- Printouts of the training PDFs

Don't worry about the order. The test contains 4 sections, and you can take them in any order, at your own pace.

Stay focused.

Keep your attention on the question at hand—don't overcomplicate it. The sample databases are there to help with specific questions.

We mean it! There are no bonus points, so answer each question directly. For example, if a question asks about item setup lists, don't use up valuable time trying to figure out vendor setup.

Double-check your answers before you submit. This helps make sure that you don't lose points for simple miss-clicks. It also gives you a second chance to ensure that you have read everything correctly and are answering the question at hand.

DURING YOUR EXAM

Document your answers.

Launch one of the test sections and answer the questions, but instead of submitting, just save your progress. Then check your answers against the training materials to see how you are doing before you submit.

If a particular question stumps you, skip it and come back to it later, before submitting that section. This will save you time.

When you complete a section of the exam, you'll be given a list of the questions you answered incorrectly and where to find the related training topic in the training courses. Make a note of these and be sure to review and find the correct answers before retaking the exam.

Clear time in your calendar.

Most people complete the exam in 2 hours. To be safe, plan 45 to 60 minutes per section, and make sure you've blocked the time and eliminated distractions accordingly.

Be sure you have enough time to complete each section. Remember, you can complete any section in any order. We will save your progress.

Need to retake the exam? No problem! You have 4 attempts, and you'll only have to answer the questions that you missed. Plus, we'll give you specific feedback and training to help you with topics that tripped you up.
